

Regulatory Flexibility Analysis and Impact Statement Form

For Proposed New and Amended Regulations Affecting Small Businesses or Individuals

Introduction

Beginning January 1, 2016, agencies submitting proposed new or amended regulations that affect small businesses or individuals are required, under the new Regulatory Transparency and Accountability Acts of 2015 (see 80 Del. Laws, c. 112 and 113), to submit a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (RFA) and a Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) with the proposed regulation to the Registrar of Regulations (see 29 Del.C. Ch. 104).

This RFA and RIS form is intended to benefit the small businesses and individuals impacted by proposed regulations by ensuring a reasonable level of consistency in the formatting of RFAs and RISs across different agencies and regulations.

State agencies proposing new or amended regulations that are substantially likely to impose additional costs or burdens on small businesses¹ or individuals² must submit a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (RFA) and a Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS) to the Registrar of Regulations, with the proposed regulation. For agencies proposing amendments to existing regulations, the promulgating agency shall only be required to complete the RFA and RIS for the proposed amended portion of the existing regulation, and not for the entire existing regulation.

What is a Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (RFA)?

In each RFA, an agency must consider, where applicable, lawful, feasible and desirable, specific methods of reducing the burdens of the regulation on individuals and/or small businesses, including: (1) establishing less stringent requirements and deadlines; (2) establishing performance standards to replace design standards; (3) exempting individuals and small businesses from all or part of the regulation; and (4) examining other ways to accomplish the regulation's purpose, while minimizing the impact upon individuals and/or small businesses.

What is a Regulatory Impact Statement (RIS)?

Among other things, each RIS must (1) describe the purpose of the regulation; (2) identify the individuals and/or small businesses subject to it; (3) provide an estimate of the potential costs of compliance; and (4) describe any less intrusive or less costly alternative methods of achieving the purpose of the regulation. In addition, the Act further enhances transparency by requiring the Registrar of Regulations to transmit regulatory impact statements to the appropriate standing committee of the General Assembly.

¹"Small business" means any not-for-profit enterprise, sheltered workshop or business enterprise which is engaged in any phase of manufacturing, agricultural production or personal service, regardless of the form of its organization, when such enterprise or workshop employs fewer than 50 persons, has gross receipts of less than $10,000,000 and is not owned, operated or controlled by another business enterprise.

²"Individual" means any natural person, including any sole proprietorship. The term "individual" does not include any natural person affected by a regulation in his/her capacity as an officer, director, or employee of an organization that is not a "small business"; e.g. the CEO of a large business.

Agencies, Boards, and Commissions: please fill out this form when proposing new or amended regulations for the purpose of informing the public and business community. All proposed regulations, even if an exemption applies, must have this form attached when submitting to the Registrar of Regulations.

Exemptions

Exemption A: This proposed regulation is not subject to Chapter 104, Title 29 of the Delaware Code, because it will not apply to small businesses or individuals at all.

Exemption B: The agency, board, or commission is exempt from completing the RFA and Impact Statement due to the nature of the proposed regulation.

Choose the reason for exemption:

B1. This proposed regulation is not substantially likely to impose additional costs or burdens upon individuals and/or small businesses. Explain this conclusion:

B2. This is an emergency regulation pursuant to 29 Del.C. §10119.

B3. This proposed regulation is exempt from the procedural requirements of the Administrative Procedures Act, 29 Del.C. §10113(b). Choose which reason:

B3a. Descriptions of agency organization, operations and procedures for obtaining information

B3b. Rules of practice and procedure used by the agency

B3c. Delegations of authority to subordinates

B3d. Nonsubstantive changes in existing regulations to alter style or form or to correct technical errors

B3e. Amendments to existing regulations to make them consistent with changes in basic law but which do not otherwise alter the substance of the regulations

B3f. Codifications of existing agency or judicial principles of decision derived from previous decisions and rulings

B4. This proposed regulation defines standard of conduct or qualifications of individuals applying for licensure or as licensed professionals. Identify which professional license or professional qualification this would apply to:

B5. Regulations that are required by federal law and/or have already complied with the federal Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. § 601 et seq. (If this is checked, the agency, board, or commission shall cite the federal law, regulation, directive, or guidance strictly mandating such state regulation and shall attach any applicable Federal RFA related to the regulation, if available. Attach the Federal RFA statement to this form, or provide the URL):

Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

State agencies, boards, and commissions proposing to adopt or amend a regulation that is substantially likely to impose additional costs or burdens upon individuals and/or small businesses shall consider, where applicable, lawful, feasible and desirable, the following methods of reducing the additional costs and burdens of proposed regulations on individuals and small businesses:

1. The establishment of less stringent compliance or reporting requirements;
2. The establishment of less stringent schedules or deadlines for compliance or reporting requirements;
3. The consolidation or simplification of compliance or reporting requirements;
4. The establishment of performance standards to replace design or operational standards required in the proposed regulation;
5. The exemption of certain individuals or small businesses from all or part of the requirements contained in the proposed regulation; and
6. Such other alternative regulatory methods that will accomplish the objectives of the proposed regulation while minimizing the adverse impact upon individuals and small businesses.

Explain whether each of the above methods would be applicable, lawful, feasible, and desirable to reduce the costs or burdens of the proposed regulation:

- 2.
- 3.
- 4.
- 5.
- 6.

If the above RFA section does not address each of the six methods and there is not an exemption that applies, explain why the agency, board, or commission decided it was not applicable, lawful, feasible, and desirable to complete the RFA section above:

Electronic Speed Monitoring System Program

Regulatory Flexibility Analysis and Impact Statement

The proposed regulation is not substantially likely to impose additional costs or burdens upon individuals and/or small businesses. Our explanation for this conclusion is provided below:

The proposed addition of the Electronic Speed Monitoring System (ESMS) program is not likely to impose additional costs or burdens upon individuals and/or small businesses. The following is our explanation:

This regulation is to establish the regulations for the ESMS program as authorized by recent legislation (84 Del. Laws, c. 74, §1) and codified in Title 21 of the Delaware Code, Section 4170A (21 Del. C. §4170A). The ESMS program is established in support of DelDOT’s Highway Safety Improvement Program (HSIP) and, in particular, its Strategic Highway Safety Plan (SHSP), which has identified speeding as an emphasis area to target the overall program goal of reducing fatalities and serious injuries on all public roads. Higher vehicle speeds may be a contributing factor in many crashes, increasing the severity for persons involved. ESMS are expected to reduce speeds, reducing the number and severity of crashes. Speed-related crashes cost an average of $141 for every person in the United States, not including comprehensive societal harm costs (NHTSA, “The Economic and Societal Impact of Motor Vehicle Crashes, 2019 (Revised 2023)”).

Additionally, while these regulations provide for a new method to enforce speeds along Delaware roads, there are no new fines or fees introduced – assessments must be consistent with existing 11 Del. C. §4169(c), 11 Del. C. §4105, 11 Del. C. §4101, 11 Del. C. §9016, and 10 Del. C. §8505. Furthermore, when determining potential additional burdens on individuals and/or small businesses, it cannot be assumed that anyone will break the law, which is the only way additional costs or burdens would be placed on these groups. The regulation also establishes requirements for state and police agency website notifications, warning periods, in-field signing requirements, and a 10 mile per hour speed buffer between the posted speed limit and the speed at which violations will be issued. These requirements all seek to provide ample advance warning and understanding of the ESMS so drivers are more likely to traverse any enforcement area safely and legally, thus not incurring any citation fines or costs.
