The GED® and GED Testing Service® brands are administered by GED testing Service LLC under license from the American Council on Education. The following highlights are from the ACE website:

- GED® tests are designed to measure the skills and knowledge equivalent to a high school course of study.
- The GED® test battery comprises five content area assessments:
 - Language Arts, Reading
 - Language Arts, Writing
 - (including an essay)
 - Mathematics
 - Science
 - Social Studies
- The GED® tests are currently offered only in a paper-pencil format at Official GED Testing Centers™ - they cannot be taken online.

Persons wishing to present their views regarding this matter may do so in writing by the close of business on or before December 5, 2011 to Susan Haberstroh, Education Associate, Regulation Review, Department of Education, at 401 Federal Street, Suite 2, Dover, Delaware 19901. A copy of this regulation is available from the above address or may be viewed at the Department of Education business office.

C. Impact Criteria

1. Will the amended regulation help improve student achievement as measured against state achievement standards? The regulation is related to the GED® test and to providing a credential to adult students who have not completed the requirements for a traditional high school diploma. The regulation and GED® tests do not specifically address student achievement as measured against state achievement standards.

2. Will the amended regulation help ensure that all students receive an equitable education? The regulation is related to the GED® test and to providing a credential to adult students who have not completed the requirements for a traditional high school diploma.

3. Will the amended regulation help to ensure that all students' health and safety are adequately protected? The regulation is related to the GED® test and providing a credential to adult students who have not completed the requirements for a traditional high school diploma. The regulation and GED® tests do not specifically address the health and safety of students.

4. Will the amended regulation help to ensure that all students' legal rights are respected? The regulation is related to the GED® test and providing a credential to adult students who have not completed the requirements for a traditional high school diploma. The regulation and GED® tests do not specifically address the legal rights of students.

5. Will the amended regulation preserve the necessary authority and flexibility of decision making at the local board and school level? The regulation preserves the necessary authority and flexibility of decision making at the local board and school levels.

6. Will the amended regulation place unnecessary reporting or administrative requirements or mandates upon decision makers at the local board and school levels? The regulation does not place unnecessary reporting or administrative requirements or mandates upon decision makers at the local board and school levels.

7. Will the decision making authority and accountability for addressing the subject to be regulated be placed in the same entity? The regulation maintains the current process for authority and accountability for the GED® testing program.

8. Will the amended regulation be consistent with and not an impediment to the implementation of other state educational policies, in particular to state educational policies addressing achievement in the core academic subjects of mathematics, science, language arts and social studies? The regulation is consistent with other state educational policies, especially as it relates to providing opportunities for adult students.

9. Is there a less burdensome method for addressing the purpose of the regulation? There is not a less burdensome method for addressing the purpose of the regulation.

10. What is the cost to the State and to the local school boards of compliance with the regulation? There are no additional costs to the State or to the local school boards for compliance with the regulation.
