The Office of Child Care Licensing seeks to adopt revisions to the formerly entitled Delacare: Requirements for Day Care Centers which was adopted in 1988. In addition to a review of best practices in the field of early care and education and school-age care, conducting a comparison of child care center regulations of contiguous States and States with similar demographics to those of Delaware, the Office of Child Care Licensing received input from several sources to revise these rules. Consensus on the rule changes was reached by a task force and its subcommittees that met periodically from September 2001 to June 2006. The task force consisted primarily of early care and education and school-age center program directors along with licensing specialists and those whose interests would be affected by the revisions. Two periods of public comment were opened, the first in February 2004. Public comments during that period led to the withdrawal of the proposed regulations while a financial impact study was conducted as directed by Governor Minner. The findings of the financial impact survey were set forth in Delacare: Requirements for Day Care Centers Fiscal Impact Study released October, 2005. These findings coupled with public comments and further task force consideration and advice were the basis upon which the Delacare: Rules for Early Care and Education and School-Age Centers were set forth again in August 2006 for public comment. The period of public comment concluded on September 22, 2006.

Comments Received

A public comment period was announced and held beginning August 1, 2006 to September 22, 2006. Public hearings were held in the evening in four locations throughout the State as follows:

- September 11, 2006 - Newark
- September 13, 2006 - Georgetown
- September 19, 2006 - Wilmington
- September 21, 2006 - Dover

A total of 56 people/organizations offered comments. Of those comments, 22 Centers were represented which was equivalent to 5% of the 426 Centers licensed under Delacare: Requirements for Day Care Centers in the month of September 2006. 38 out of 56 (68%) persons/organizations offered verbal or written comments which stated their general support for the revisions and only 4 out of 56 (7%) were in general opposition.

Information received during this period was analyzed and additional changes were made to the revisions. These changes fall under the following categories:

- To be aligned to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) to accommodate the needs of individuals with disabilities at Centers as recommended by multiple Delaware advisory councils whose missions are to advocate on behalf of persons with disabilities.
- To accommodate concerns regarding the fiscal impact of changes to Delacare rules in the areas of staff qualifications, staffing requirements, annual training requirements, communication with parents, outdoor play area, fall zone depths, sleeping arrangements, heating and cooling equipment inspection, pet care, transportation of children, immunization information, and positive behavior management

• To correct or clarify rules to better ensure the ability of Office of Child Care Licensing to regulate child care centers
• To correct grammatical mistakes, and omissions
• To reword rules for clarity and consistency in use of wording while keeping the original intent of the rule

Finding of Facts

The Office of Child Care Licensing is within the Division of Family Services, Department of Services for Children, Youth and their Families. The Secretary of this Department finds that it is appropriate to amend 9 DE Admin. Code 101 or as it was otherwise known as Delacare: Requirements for Day Care Centers and to adopt the revisions to the rules. The new title will become Delacare: Rules for Early Care and Education and School-Age Centers. The adoption of the revisions is sought to establish a new baseline of care which more appropriately reflects accepted quality standards that support healthy, safe and enriching early care and education and school-age practices. The 1988 Delacare: Requirements for Day Care Centers does not reflect the body of knowledge that has been acquired in the field of early care and education. The existing Requirements no longer offer adequate safeguards or protection for children in care nor do they promote standards and practices that promote optimal development and learning in order for children to be ready for and succeed in school and life. All other States have revised or readopted Center rules since 1988, most in the past 10 years leaving Delaware to have the oldest set of child care center regulations.

Decision to Adopt the Rules

For the foregoing reasons, the Department Secretary concludes that it is appropriate to revise 9 DE Admin. Code 101 and adopt the revisions to create a new set of rules titled Delacare: Rules for Early Care and Education and School-Age Centers. Therefore, pursuant to 31 Delaware Code, Chapter 3, Subchapter III, Subsections 341-345, also known as "The Delaware Child Care Act" and 29 Delaware Code, Chapter 90, Subsection 9003(7), 9 DE Admin. Code 101 is hereby adopted.

FOREWORD

Day Early Care and Education and School-Age Care, generally known as "day care" or "child care", is the most commonly are the terms now used term to refer to the range of services available for children who are away from their own homes for a part of the day. Generally parents/guardians seek substitute care for reasons of employment, although a variety of situations prompt the need for day care outside of their own homes. The primary characteristic of day these types of care arrangements is the delegation by the parent(s)/guardian(s) of the responsibility for the care, education, and protection, supervision or guidance of the child to the day early care and education or school-age care provider.

The need for protecting children receiving care outside their own homes was recognized by the Delaware General Assembly as early as 1915. Since 1950, Delaware has required currently requires child day early care and education and school-age facilities centers to be licensed as authorized in the Delaware Code, Title 31, Chapter 3, Subchapter II III, Subsections 341-344 345, also known since July, 2001 as "The Delaware Child Care Act". The licensing law defines the types of facilities that are to be regulated by the State, and gives the authority to "prescribe reasonable standards" "prescribe, by regulation or otherwise, any reasonable standards" and "license such facilities" "license such of these (facilities)" to the Department of Services for Children, Youth and Their Families Office of Child Care Licensing. The purpose of the law is to protect the health, safety and well-being of the children who receive care in day early care and education and school-age facilities centers. Licensing of these facilities is a preventive function which has as its purpose setting requirements rules which must be met in order for a facility to be able to operate.

In developing the current revision of Day Early Care and Education and School-Age Center Licensing Requirements Rules, the Department Office of Child Care Licensing sought the advice and assistance of knowledgeable persons representative of the field of child care early care and education and school-age care and those whose interests are affected by the rules. These new requirements rules, now under the title of "Delacare: Requirements Rules for Day Early Care and Education and School-Age Centers", were primarily drawn from the Model Child Care Standards Act - Guidance to States to Prevent Child Abuse in Day Care Facilities, January 1985, other Delaware facility rules concerning the care of children, the licensing requirements rules of other states, and current research in child development, early care and education and health and safety care issues related to day children in care, statistical and demographic reports, and national professional accreditation standards.
The requirements are divided into five distinct parts. The first part contains requirements which must be met by all day early care and education and school-age centers in order to be licensed. The remaining four parts contain separate requirements for facilities providing specialized services - night care and care in school-age centers. Through this design, the Department of Child Care Licensing has attempted to define specific requirements rather than broad standards so that compliance can be measured more accurately and consistently.

The Department of Child Care Licensing sincerely appreciates the contribution and efforts of all the individuals involved in the development of Delacare: Requirements Rules for Day Early Care and Education and School-Age Centers and asks for their continued support in working together to provide better care and services to children in day care centers.
